My boss wants to put a ring on my finger.

When my house burns down, my insurance company thinks it's my fault. In a single night I lose everything.

My life is ruined.

The next morning I stumble into work, wondering if people will notice I slept in my car, and in my daze I walk right into the guy who owns the whole company.

Marcus Steere, billionaire extraordinaire. He dresses to kill, and his blue eyes lock me on the spot.

I'm so overwhelmed that I let it slip out how I'm about to end up on the street.

I need someone to blame. Doesn't he cut the checks? Good. It's semi his fault I'm so broke.

Marcus is stunned by my blunt honesty. And then he makes me an offer too good to refuse.

I just have to do one thing...

Pretend to be his wife.

This naughty novella is a complete standalone full of all the good and dirty things Penny Wylder writes best! It also includes one of her bestselling boss romance stories as an extra at the back!
